

How do we encourage young people to care for the world?

Justice Walking

JusticeWalking is a “prophet-raising” process that invites young people and their adult companions to walk in the footsteps of Jesus today. Through prayer, retreats, reading, dialogue, and encounters, J-Walkers broaden their circle of awareness and expose their lives to the compassionate spirit of gospel justice.

Program Overview

The JusticeWalking process is available for high school and college-aged youth and their adult companions.

Sessions

- J-Walking for high school includes twelve 2-hour sessions.
- J-Walking for college includes seven 2-hour sessions.
- Gatherings alternate between a “home base” (parish, school, etc.) and a local social service agency.

Resources

J-Walkers expand their circle of care by reading two texts, journaling, listening to music, and viewing a DVD.

Immersion

A two-day Justice Pilgrimage to local sites examines the signs of our times through the lens of faith.

Unique Components

- Opening and Commissioning Retreats frame the process.
- Meeting at the Margins sessions invite J-Walkers to form relationships with people they would not otherwise meet.
- A Public Dialogue allows J-Walkers to share their experiences with the wider community.
