

Embracing Suffering Worried, Wounded & Watchful

A Retreat with Joe Grant

*As we look around and deeply into this world, if our hearts are not breaking,
perhaps we are not awake!*

Friday, September 6, 6:30 - 8:30pm

Saturday, September 7, 9:30am - 4:30pm

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Clingman Chapel
330 N. Hubbards Lane, Louisville, KY 40207

Exploring the Wisdom Way - A Christian Path to Wholeness

In turbulent times, we all hunger for wholeness, connection, community and compassionate engagement. The Christian Wisdom tradition offers insights and practices to help draw the world of crying need and awesome complexity into our heart and center.

Using presentation, guided meditation, centering practices and sharing, this retreat explores the crux of Christianity: how shared suffering, longing, loss and frailty can widen our hearts, break open our lives, and compel us to compassionate encounters.

- This 9-hour retreat takes place over two days: Friday and Saturday, September 6-7
- The per person fee is priced according to your ability ($75, $100, $125) and includes refreshments on Friday evening as well as lunch on Saturday. Some partial scholarships are available.
- Coffee and tea provided.
- Please arrive 15 minutes before start time on both Friday and Saturday
- For more info or registration: Anne Walter, StillintheStorm@gmail.com or 502-619-1652

A Little About Our Presenter

A native of Scotland, Joe Grant received a Master of Divinity degree from Catholic Theological Union, Chicago. He has served as a minister in Europe, the U.S. and Latin America. As Director of Programs for JustFaith Ministries, he created nationally recognized processes for youth and adults. In 2004, he received the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry award for Gospel Values of Peace and Justice. Joe lives in inner-city Louisville with his wife and family and is a co-founder of the CrossRoads Ministry retreat center. Joe has authored numerous books and articles on scripture, justice and spirituality including: Still In the Storm, Reflections for Engaging Spirituality in times like these.

His most recent book is scheduled for release by Franciscan Media this November.

Visit Joe's blog: <https://engagedpresence.wordpress.com/>